7 Things NOT to Procrastinate

Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

Autumn is almost here. It's hard to believe with temperatures still in the 90's as I write this. But not doubt it will be here before we know it. The change of seasons always has a way of sneaking up on me. Another thing that I think is going to be like this – is death. We all know it is coming, but when it finally arrives, I suspect, it will probably sneak up on me.

Now, as some of you may know, I have a tendency to procrastinate – with sermons and with chores around the house. I've got a whole list of to-do's that need doing. And the other day I began wondering how this procrastinating is ultimately going to play out in my life. When death comes for me, what things will still be on that list of to-do's? What things am I never going to get to?

Now, there's probably some positive aspects to procrastinating, but there are some things that I don't want to leave undone and never get to before I die. So, as a big fan of lists on the internet, e.g. "Top 10 Best Places to Live", "3 Best Diners in RI", "5 Most Dangerous Professions", etc. I thought I would take a shot at coming with a list of things one shouldn't procrastinate. Here's what I came up with:

(1.) Saying, "I love you."

We don't have to love everyone, but if God puts love in our hearts for someone, we should let them know – tell them, give them a pat on the back, spend time with them, or just say, "Hello." There are many ways we can express the love that's in us.

(2.) Saying, "I'm sorry."

"To err is human," the saying goes, and the Bible puts it this way, "We all sin and fall short of the glory of God." (Romans 3:23). We're going to mess up, that's what we do. And when we do, there's no point in pretending we didn't.

When we mess up, we should say we're sorry, we should fix whatever we broke (if possible), and then we should give space and time to let the other person (or people) either accept or reject our apology.

Regardless of whether our apology is accepted or not, we are children of God, and this means we are loved, and forgiven, and God's forever.

(3.) Forgiveness.

When we are wronged, it can stir up in us anger, hurt and sadness. Overtime these feelings and thoughts associated with them can suck the joy out of life and can literally make us sick.

Life is short. And so, we should do our best get this anger and hurt out of us.

Find someone you trust and talk to them. Tell them how you were wronged. Tell them how it makes you feel and how it has changed your life. Imagine with them a future where you no longer have this hurt, anger and sadness.

You don't have to forgive the person (or people) who wronged you in person. The important thing is to get the anger and hurt out. Forgiveness is more important for the person who was wronged. It makes it possible for them to get their life back.

(4.) Spending time with friends.

If you have friends, treasure them, spend time with them, nurture them, be generous with them. They are one of the greatest gifts God blesses us with.

(5.) Helping someone in need.

Helping someone can be dicey business. You often end up getting into more than you initially imagined. And many times people need things, we don't have.

BUT – there are occasions, when there's someone in need and we find ourselves with the ability to help – someone is hungry and we have food, someone is cold and we have a coat we're not using, someone is homeless and we have an extra room, someone's lonely and we have time for a conversation. In these cases God has matched someone's need and put us there to help. We should take advantage of these moments whenever and wherever they occur. We are children of God, vessels of God's grace. In moments like these we are given the opportunity to experience the kingdom of God.

"Truly I tell you," Jesus said, "whatever you did for one of the least of these brothers and sisters of mine, you did for me." (Matthew 25:40)

(6.) Enjoying the good things God has put in your life.

Del's Lemonade, evening walks, friends, beaches, oceans, calamari. Here in Rhode Island God has put lots of good things in our lives, and this includes our community of faith at Emanuel.

(7.) Using your talents and sharing them with the world.

Some of us are musicians, some of us are woodworkers, some of us are good with numbers, some of us enjoy cooking, and some of us are good with the gab. God has given each of us different talents. Let us use them boldly, without fear. Let us try new things knowing that sometimes we will fail and sometimes we will succeed.

God has freed us from sin and death and holds us secure in love, so let us not hold back, let us not procrastinate. Let us imagine the abundant life God desires for all of us – and then boldly live into it.

Your brother in Christ,
Pastor Todd Stange

Did you know...

The projection that we use during Sunday morning worship is available for download each week on our website at www.emanuelww.org?

It is usually available on Saturday evening. Feel free to download it to your smartphone or tablet to use during worship, or view it on your computer to catch up if you are not able to make it to church on Sunday morning.

Also, we are making larger print versions of the hymns that we sing on Sunday morning for those who have difficulty reading the hymns projected on the wall. Copies are available, just ask an usher. If you attend the 8:00 service, please leave the copy for use at the 10:30 service.

Emanuel's Bible study will be held every other week after the service.

Grab a coffee & snack and head over to Anderson Lounge. Next study is Aug. 16th. Please consider coming, all are welcome!

Fellowship Hall Roof Repair

Emanuel,

I don't know if you remember or not, but this past winter we had a major leak that came through the ceiling of the fellowship hall kitchen.

The leak was in the fellowship hall's flat roof. Over the years the pitch of roof has changed and water now collects in the center away from the side drains.

Since the winter, the ceiling has been repaired, the roof has been patched and two new drains have been added to drain away water.

All this repair work has come at an expense, an expense that was not planned for in our budget. The most recent drain, which was added last month, cost $2,400.

We are looking to raise the money to cover this needed repair. If you'd like to help and are able to give a little extra, please either mail a check into the office with a note in the memo line saying "roof repair" or use one of the envelopes in the pews and give your offering when it's collected during worship.

If you have any questions, please feel free to give me a call or email. Thank you.

Pastor Todd Stange

During worship in the sanctuary, please remember to be kind to those around you:

- Turn off cell phones (or switch them to vibrate).
- Wait until after worship to discuss church business or catch up with family and friends.

Thank you!

August Pullman was born with a facial difference that, up until now, has prevented him from going to a mainstream school. Starting 5th grade at Beecher Prep, he wants nothing more than to be treated as an ordinary kid—but his new classmates can't get past Auggie's extraordinary face.

WONDER, now a #1 New York Times bestseller and included on the Texas Bluebonnet Award master list, begins from Auggie's point of view, but soon switches to include his classmates, his sister, her boyfriend, and others. These perspectives converge in a portrait of one community's struggle with empathy, compassion, and acceptance.

Evening Bible Study at Emanuel

This fall we will be going through the book of Romans. Almost 2,000 years ago the Apostle Paul wrote this letter to the young church in Rome. Join us in taking a look at his letter and discovering what it has to say to us today.
